AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE

Initiating its fifth year in the American Field Service program, Kirkwood welcomed 1967-68 exchange student Yolanda Diaz. "Judy" arrived from her home in San Miguel de Tucumán, Argentina, in August and became part of the family of senior Diane Congdon during her stay of a year. Judy spent much of her time sharing impressions and experiences with various groups through numerous speaking engagements.

Americans Abroad, a phase of the AFS program, offered Kirkwood students an opportunity for study in a foreign country. A committee comprised of adult advisors of the Kirkwood chapter chose juniors Nancy Lewis and Sue Tifft as semifinalist candidates for either the 1968-69 school season or summer tour.

In support of the entire program, AFS committee chairman, Nancy Lewis, launched a fund-raising drive in January of this year. Displaying their enthusiasm for the continuation of the program, students and faculty rallied to achieve and surpass a goal of $1,500 through the sale of shares.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the guidance and assistance of sponsor, Mr. Robert Clodfelter, Student Council undertook the planning and organization of various activities throughout the year. Designed to benefit the student, school, and community, the activities involved both service and entertainment projects.

Assisting with orientation procedures, Council members designed and published handbooks for distribution to sophomores and new students. Both Adult School orientation and the yearly Career Night drew upon the ushering services which Student Council has traditionally provided.

Numerous money-making projects facilitated a wide range of activities as well as providing entertainment. New this year was the fall magazine sales which netted more than $3,000. Proceeds from this school-wide contest went into a fund to aid the activities of clubs and organizations in the school. Also new was the addition of a computer dance to the program of Kettles the Council sponsors annually. Other Kettles included a sophomore orientation Kettle and a Pioneer-signing Kettle.

The sale of AFS shares in January raised a total of $1,545 for the continuation of the student-exchange program. As a final large project, Student Council staged the annual Talent Show in March. Performances held on March 15 in an assembly for the student body and in the evening for the public further increased funds while exhibiting student talents.

Council representatives communicated with the student body through home room meetings during which students voiced opinions on such propositions as the design for a new school crest. Visitation Day, held in cooperation with a neighboring school, enabled Council members to gain insight into new methods of solving problems of student government.

Providing the KHS student body with information on school events, the 1968 Call Staff organized its bi-weekly publication in a journalism class. Following an all-school contest, the paper selected a new insignia, a Conestoga wagon, for its name plate. New articles introduced by the paper were a "Classes" column which announced class events and a "Comments" column which enabled feature writers to voice opinions on school activities.

Financing the publication through sales of subscription cards and individual issues, the staff replenished its funds by selling Pop Hop tickets, Turkey Day programs, and advertisement space. With these added funds, the Call was able to publish several special issues, including a twelve-page senior issue.

To learn better journalistic techniques, Call Staff representatives and sponsor, Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley, attended the Missouri Inter-Scholastic Press Assocaition Fall Convention and journalism conferences at Washington University and Mac-Murray College, The National Newspaper Service, Columbia Scholastic Press Association, M.I.P.A., and the National Scholastic Press Association evaluated the Call's writing and layout favorably.

Study of Societies

HUMAN RELATIONS CLUB

In order to explain and promote a new tutoring program for Turner School children, coordinator Father Rollins from Vianney High School visited Human Relations Club in September. Interested members, sponsored by Mrs. Nancy Welch, aided grammar school students with math, English, French, and Spanish homework, and attempted to help the younger pupils solve their personal problems.

For the club's main money-making project, members compiled information for the Buzz Books and sold the directories to K.H.S. students. In December, Mrs. Marion Brooks, a K.H.S. Social Studies teacher, presented a lecture on morality. Other meetings were devoted to discussing and analyzing teaching methods and school rules.

Highlighting the club's projects was the Inter-Youth Group at Soldan High School in the spring. Discussions on such topics as religion and hypnotism enabled the club to fulfill its goal of the better understanding of people and their nature.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Twenty foreign exchange students in the St. Louis area gathered at K.H.S. in early December for the International Relations Club's Foreign Fling. Comparing the customs of their native countries, the students promoted an understanding and appreciation of foreign cultures and people, in order to fulfi'l the goal of the club.

Among other guest speakers three former Peace Corps volunteers—Mr. Douglas Rentell and Mr. James Dzierwa who lived in Morocco and Mr. Roger Nye who worked in Turkey—discussed the rigorous Peace Corps training and several of their unusual experiences during their assignments. Using proceeds from the Christmas "Tree of Lights" campaign, the club donated more than $200 to CARE.

International Relations Club and sponsor Mrs. Marilyn Woodbury climaxed their activities in March with a hootenany featuring folk songs from many different nations. Students from neighboring high schools and colleges participated in this club-sponsored song fest.

C.O.E. CLUB

Following their motto, "Learn to work—Work to learn," members of the KHS Cooperative Occupational Education Club developed their leadership abilities and respect for work. Five KHS representatives attended the Missouri State Leadership Conference of the Cooperative Occupational Education Clubs and the Distributive Education Clubs of America from March 18 to March 19. In addition to DECA, the COE club belonged to the Vocational Education Clubs of America.

Sponsored by Mr. Beecher Henderson, the COE Club held regular meetings and organized various projects. Each member invited his employer to a spring banquet to show his appreciation for the opportunity to learn through actual job experience. In order to make money for the banquet, COE Club members sold chocolate candy and gold KHS pins.

Vocations

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Sponsored by Mrs. Harriet Lucco, Future Teachers of America devoted time to gaining knowledge of the teaching profession. Club activities included frequent talks by teachers and counselors of elementary and secondary schools. Members of FTA also participated in a tutoring program at Turner Elementary School, and assisted teachers at KHS by filing and grading papers during study hall periods. Local junior high schools and elementary schools allowed Future Teachers to spend a portion of the school day observing teaching techniques and procedures.

Mehlville Senior High School held the Annual South County Symposium on February 21. Prepared for local FTA clubs, the convention offered a program of speakers and a banquet.

FTA used club funds to grant its most deserving member a $200 college scholarship. To supply the treasury for the award, members sold candy, baked goods and KHS stationery, and provided coat-checking service at school dances.

LITTLE THEATRE

In an unprecedented effort to encourage the art of drama at Kirkwood, Thespians awarded a $100 prize to the outstanding actor for the 1967-68 school year. Membership in Thespians, the honor society for high school drama enthusiasts, was limited to those Little Theatre members who earned one hundred participation points. For those students who regularly attended Little Theatre meetings, contributed most to the fall and spring plays, and thus earned five hundred points, the status of Honor Thespian was accorded. Other Thespian activities included attending a state drama conference at Webster College and the presentation of a duet acting team from Kirkwood at this same meeting.

Little Theatre, open to those students who earned at least twenty participation points, presented the fall play, Blithe Spirit, under the direction of Mr. Nolan Hansen. In March, Little Theatre produced two one-act plays, "He Ain't Done Right by Nell" and "A Dream." Presented in the cafeteria, the decor and refreshments maintained the melodramatic atmosphere of the student-directed theatricals. Fittingly, the Little Theatre members closed the year's activities by going as a group to a professional performance at the Loretto-Hilton Theatre.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Paced by a core of determined seniors the Kirkwood Pioneer Cross-Country team completed one of its most successful seasons this fall. With five returning lettermen on the squad, experience was basic to the success of coach Fred Lyon's runners. KHS harriers soundly defeated every opponent in dual and triangular meets, and went on to capture the Ladue and Beaumont Invitationals.

Reward for out-running all fifteen adversaries in the South County District meet was the privilege of sending an eight man delegation to the state meet in Columbia. Highlighted by the performances of Kerry and Kirk Hogan, the KHS competitors dominated the state-wide event and emerged with the Missouri Cross-Country crown.

Perhaps the highest honor achieved by any KHS Cross-Country team climaxed the 1967-68 season. Based on the times of Kirkwood's top seven runners, a nationally known periodical, Track and Field News, ranked the squad fourth nationwide.

VARSITY HOCKEY

Girls' intramurals allowed participants to further their skills and to develop a higher proficiency in athletics. Sports offered in the fall schedule were hockey, speed-a-way, tennis, and gymnastics. Hockey was the first of the three varsity sports.

Kirkwood's Varsity Hockey team displayed a winning form as it completed its fifth consecutive undefeated season. Under the guidance of Mrs. Helen Taft, the girls developed into a well-balanced team. The defensive unit, which did not allow any of Kirkwood's four opponents to score a single goal, was complemented by a capable offensive line. Most of the time Kirkwood kept the ball in the opposing team's half of the field.

Kirkwood's first victory came at the expense of Affton, 1-0. Then the team traveled to Brentwood where it squelched its opponent 4-0. Continuing its winning ways, the squad defeated a tough Ritenour team 2-0. In the final contest of the season, Kirkwood met Webster in a highly spirited game, but neither team was able to score as the game ended in a 0-0 tie.

B-TEAM FOOTBALL

Coach Frank Czapla continued his tradition of winning seasons by leading his B-Team sophomores to a 5-1-1 season. Gaining experience and poise in the early part of the year, the "B" Pioneers developed an overall team effort which lasted throughout the season.

The B-Team opened its season by shutting out Webster 13-0, and outscoring Mehlville 32-26. Halfback Jesse Hodges ended Lindbergh's hopes for victory as he scored on a 95 yard run to insure a 12-0 win for Kirkwood. Ladue battled the Pioneers to a 0-0 tie and in its next encounter the B-Team lost to Parkway 19-32. The "B" Pioneers completed a fine year by downing McCluer 6-0 and University City 21-14.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Climaxed by a Thanksgiving Day victory, Coach Bill Lenich's Pioneers completed their football season with the defeat of Webster and a share in the Suburban South Conference title. The Pioneers opened a 7-2 season by soundly defeating Normandy 33-20. For its second game Kirkwood traveled to Cape Girardeau for the first time in eight years. Cape Central handed the team its first loss of the year by out-scoring it 17-14. Recording two touchdowns in the second half, the Pioneers held Cape to a tie until late in the fourth quarter when Cape Central kicked a field goal to end Kirkwood's hopes for victory.

Kirkwood captured its next three league games by stopping Mehlville 27-0, Lindbergh 14-6, and Ladue 15-7. The Parkway Colts defeated Kirkwood for its second loss of the season by a score of 20-14, and put the Pioneers in a league tie with Parkway which was never broken. Scrambling back to winning form, the Pioneers downed Mc-Cluer 27-13 and U. City 12-0. This set the stage for a winning spirit at the Turkey Day Game.

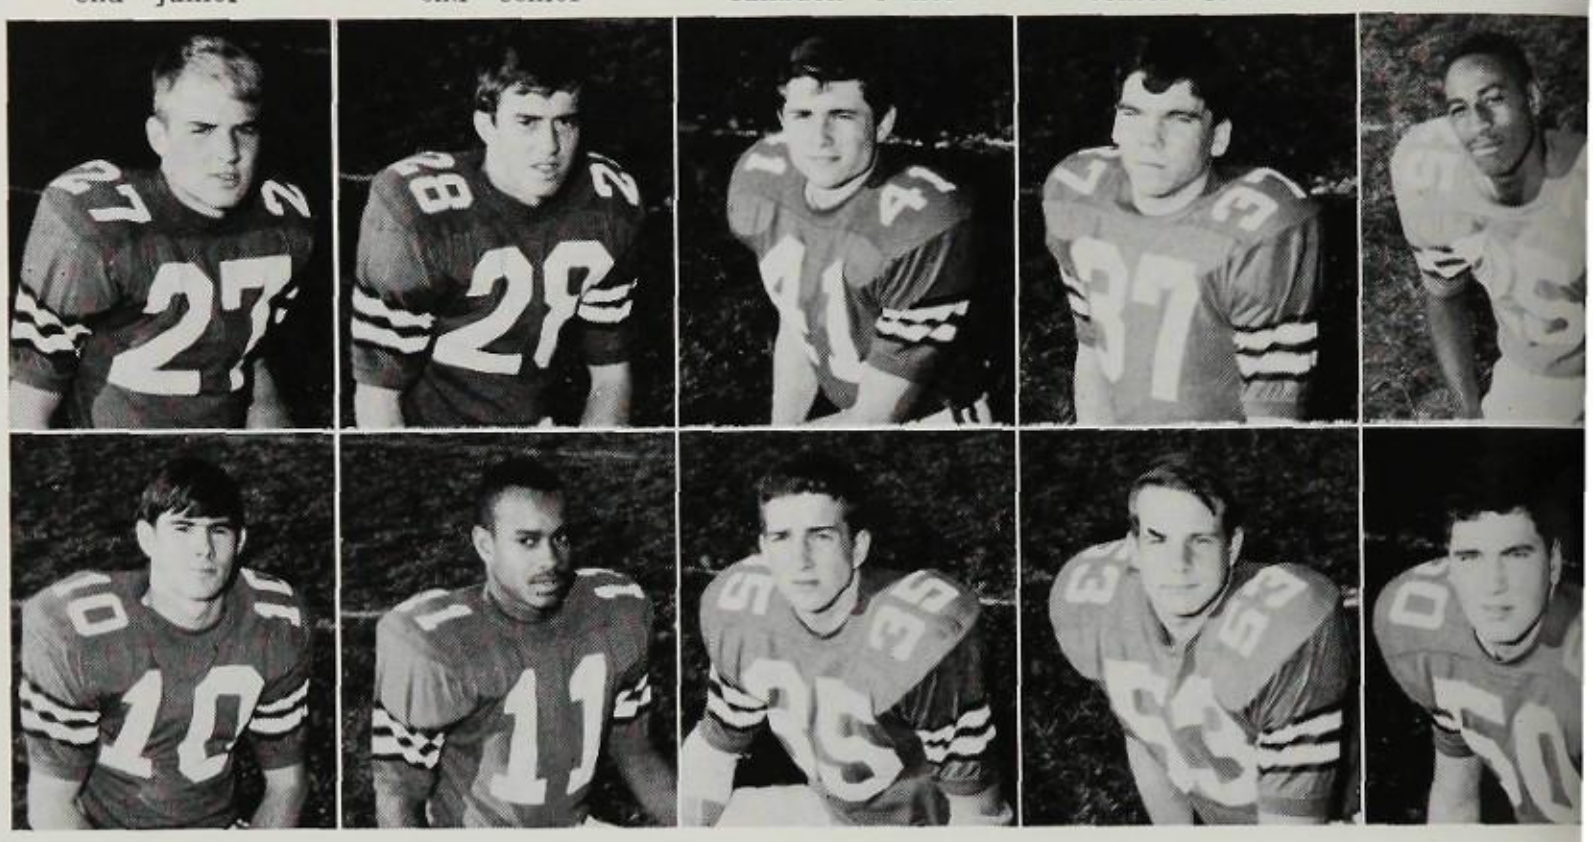
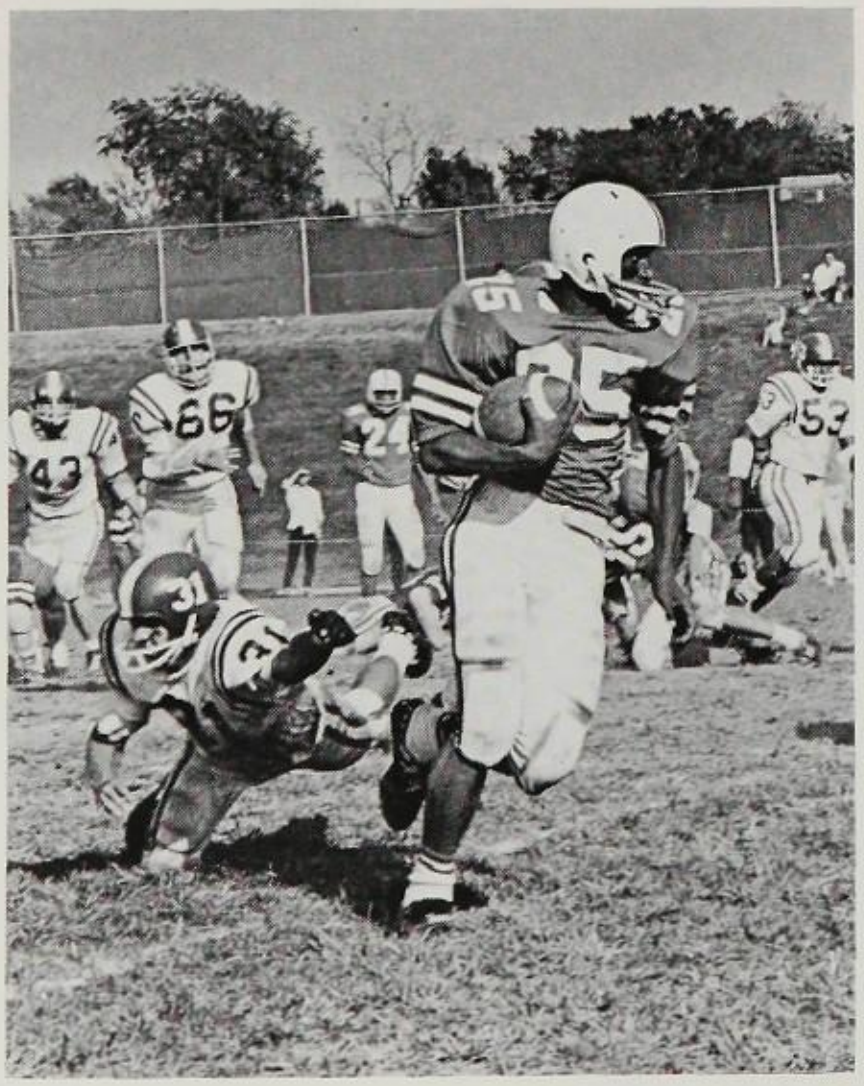
Pioneers Retain Frisco Bell for



Art Miller slips from the grasp of a Parkway tackler.



Combined effort and team coordination made possible by hard practice was the winning formula for the Kirkwood Pioneers on Turkey Day, 1967. Led by the hard-nosed running of Ford Hall and Art Miller, and the path clearing ability of the Pioneer offensive line, the Kirkwood team recorded its second straight victory over the Webster Statesmen, 33-13.

Kirkwood scored twice in the first half on runs of six and two yards by fullback Ford Hall. The Pioneer defense held Webster to one touchdown, and Kirkwood went into the second half leading 13-6. In the second half Kirkwood displayed the teamwork which had been developing all year. Defensive standout Steve Marshall repeatedly caught the Statesmen ball carriers behind the scrimmage line for major losses. All-Metro end Chester Jackson caught several key passes thrown by quarterback Bill Lenich who ended his year with 85 completions in 163 attempts. Kirkwood scored three touchdowns to Webster's one in the second half, thus keeping the Frisco Bell at Kirkwood High School.

BOYS' PEP CLUB

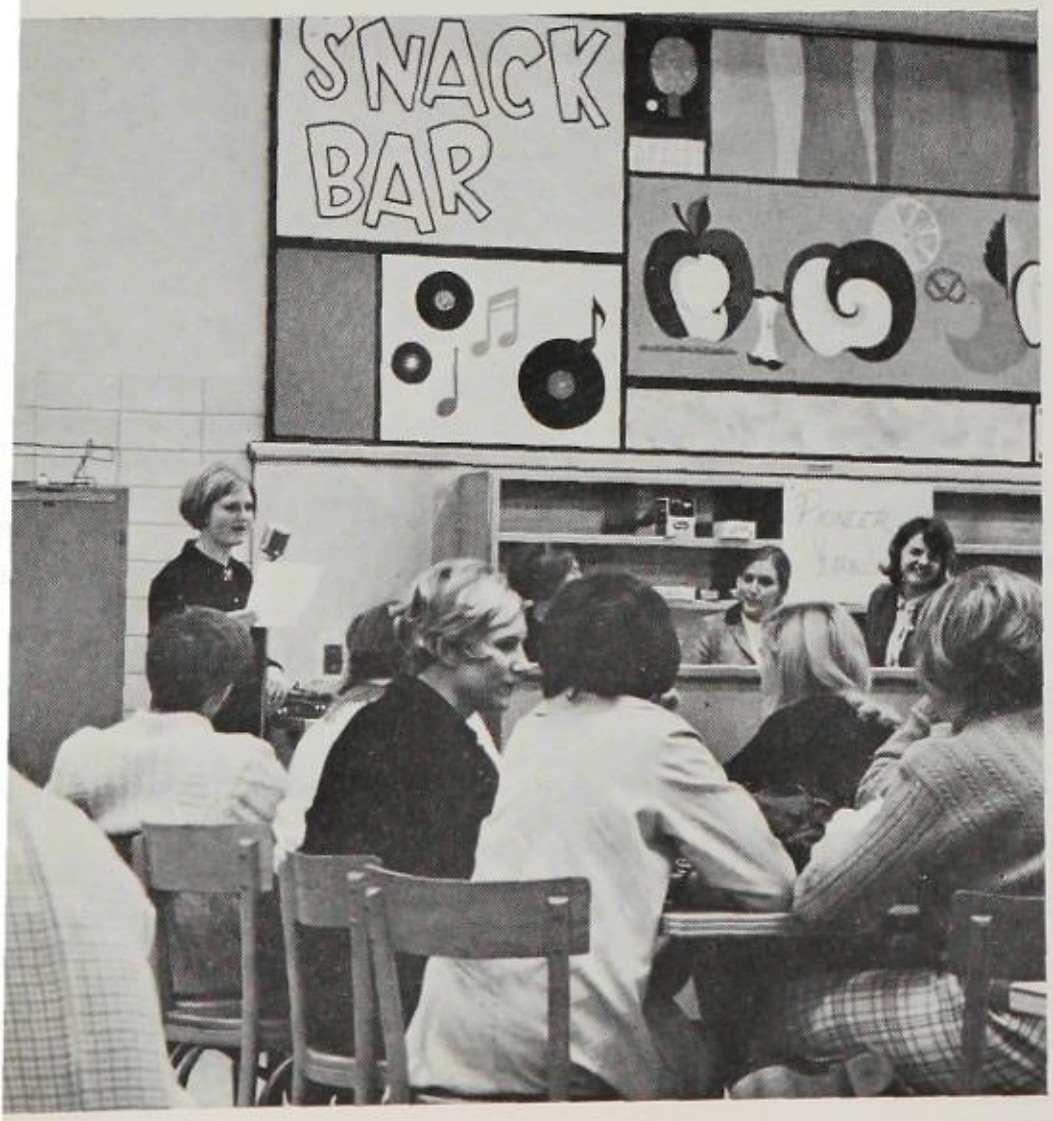
Completing its third year under the supervision of faculty advisor Mrs. Mary Davenport, the 1967-68 Boys' Pep Club was a major contributor to the thrill and excitement of KHS sports events. President Ray Ritchey, along with the other club officers, devoted his time to coordinating the 260 BPC participants into an effective spirit-promoting organization.

"Red on the head" was the slogan of BPC as they promoted the sale of red derbies, the club's major money-making project. An originally designed float in the Turkey Day parade plus an entirely "red section" in the stands were BPC's contributions to this year's clash with the Statesmen.

Maintaining an exclusive cheering section for BPC members throughout the football and basketball seasons enabled the club to give verbal support to KHS competitors. In addition to backing cheers led by the Red Peppers, BPC members vocalized numerous unique encouragements of their own this year. Boys' Pep Club succeeded in carrying the spirit of KHS through all school events and in maintaining the traditional sense of pride in all athletic competition.

GPC Embodies Leadership,

Listing committee chairmen and members, Pep Club President Steph Schoeneberg explains plans for Turkey Day.



GIRLS' PEP CLUB

Girls' Pep Club, sponsored by Mrs. Margaret Tevis and Mrs. Mary Alice Massey, enthusiastically supported Kirkwood's athletic contests. At the beginning of the year, the girls organized a "Pep Week" which brought school spirit to a peak for the opening of the football season. Continuing its pep campaign, GPC members distributed "pep tags," decorated the walls with bright red and white posters, and arranged bus transportation to away games. Before the annual Kirkwood-Webster game, the girls prepared an amusing Tacky Day skit and arranged the traditional parade. At the end of the football season, the club's efforts were rewarded as Kirkwood shared the Carl Burris Sportsmanship Award with Parkway High School.

As the largest club at KHS, Pep Club earned money for its numerous projects through sales of ads for the football program. United efforts of Girls' and Boys' Pep Clubs formed the basis of school spirit at Kirkwood High School.

CHEERLEADERS

Dedicated to their job of arousing school spirit, the nine KHS cheerleaders attended all sports events and participated in several pep assemblies. Setting a precedent at Kirkwood, the "Red Peppers" led cheers at two Cardinal football games on September 17 and December 10, along with cheerleaders from other St. Louis area high schools.

Girls' Pep Club donated money to purchase new spring uniforms for the varsity squad, which consisted of four seniors, four juniors, and an alternate. The girls wore red pant-dresses during the spring and at indoor sports and skirts and sweaters during the colder season.

Tryouts for cheerleader involved preliminary eliminations by a panel of judges consisting of Girls' Pep Club and Boys' Pep Club officers, the senior cheerleaders, and class leaders. After watching the finalists perform during an assembly, sophomores and juniors voted to determine the cheering squad. Girls' Pep Club sponsors Mrs. Mary Alice Massey and Mrs. Margaret Tevis served as advisers for the Red Peppers.

GIRLS' PEP CLUB OFFICERS

Striving to increase enthusiasm throughout KHS, the five 1967-68 Girls' Pep Club officers undertook the organization of several projects including preparations for Pep Week and Turkey Day. Each officer was responsible for a number of committees. Along with the cheerleaders, the officers delivered "pep" (boxes of Special "K" cereal) to boys participating in sports and decorated the boys' locker room before such events as the first football game, the State Cross-Country meet, and Turkey Day.

Early in the fall, Girls' Pep Club officers directed the second annual election of B-team cheerleaders. Sophomore class members voted on six sophomore cheerleaders, whose job was to increase support of B-team sports activities. Other duties performed by the Girls' Pep Club officers included the chartering of busses for away games, the sale of Pep Club memberships, and the sale of football and basketball passes.

Marching Band Provides Musical

Half-time pause brings out the band in a flashing musical display of timing and precision.

Success on the fall sports scene echoed to the sounds of the Kirkwood High Marching Band. Composed of the 63-member Symphonic Band and the sophomore Varsity Band, the marching Pioneers entertained spectators at each of the home football games and also provided music for the several fall pep assemblies and rallies.

For the remainder of the year the two bands, directed by Mr. Burton Isaac, performed separately. As instructor, Mr. Isaac sought to instill a true appreciation of music and a competence in performance among his students. To demonstrate this proficiency, the bands participated in the Kirkwood and Suburban Educators Music Festivals.

Citizens of Kirkwood benefited from the services of the band through concerts and performances at dedications and public gatherings. In early February the bands presented their annual Winter Concert. With the orchestra, the bands concluded their regular concert season with the Spring Concert in May.

Providing the first of KHS social events, the Student Council sponsored a Sophomore Kettle to encourage the making of new acquaintances. Traditionally the premiere dance of the year, the September Pop Hop provided casual school-wide entertainment with music by the Impassions. K-Klub members presented a backward dance on September 30, using "Lost in Space" as the theme for the decorations. Seniors gained access to the Senior Lounge in the last week of September.

Students and their families and friends satisfied their hunger at the November Spaghetti Supper, sponsored by Student Council. Blithe Spirit, the fall production of Little Theatre, captivated audiences on November 17 and 18. Kirkwood students traveled to Webster Groves High School's gymnasium to attend the 1967 Friendship Dance. Entitled "the Surrealistic Foot-Powered Ball," the dance gained soaring attendance from both schools, and featured music by the "Cecil Davis Revue" and the "Beleraphon Expedition."

FRIENDSHIP DANCE

Held on the Saturday night following the annual Kirkwood-Webster Turkey Day Game, the Friendship Dance served to temporarily quell the traditional rivalry between the two schools. With decorations that included psychedelic posters and flashing lights, Kirkwood's Coachmen II Senior Hi-Y and two Webster Hi-Y's portrayed the theme, "The Surrealistic Foot Powered Ball." As couples danced from 8:30 to 11:30, the "Cecil Davis Revue" and the "Beleraphon Expedition" contributed their sounds to the psychedelic atmosphere.

Later in the evening the Little Brown Jug and the Frisco Bell were presented to Webster and Kirkwood respectively. Then the football maids and the two queens, chosen by each school's varsity football team, were announced Kirkwood's 1967 Football Queen was cheerleader Abbi Hunt, while Jane Schaefer reigned as Webster Queen.

As a member of Human Relations Club she participated in a tutoring program at Turner School.

ART CLUB

Newest and most ambitious of Art Club's projects this year was the Christmas Gift Bazaar. Industrious members fashioned and filled orders for key chains, initial pins, pebble paper weights, imitation flowers, and book marks. With money earned from the sale of these items, the club purchased four encyclopedias of world art for the art room.

Continuing the practice initiated several years ago, the winning entry in the annual school-wide art contest was added to the permanent display of student art work in the Guidance Lobby. Other top entries in the general areas of painting, drawing and sculpture earned cash prizes.

Art Club, led by president Peggy Anderson and sponsored by Miss Jean Sheppard, was an organized art activity designed to enrich the creative experiences of its members and to provide service to Kirkwood High. In order to achieve this first goal, club members traveled to the St. Louis City Art Museum to view the Pulitzer Exhibit, an outstanding collection of modern art, and visited the House of Clay, a private Kirkwood art studio. Guest speakers who elaborated on commercial and historical aspects of the world of art, rounded out Art Club's program of assistance in creative pursuits.

FINE ARTS CLUB

Kites of original design dotted the sky over Art Hill in Forest Park during the Fine Arts Club March kite contest. This aerial contest was only one of several projects created to develop and exhibit the artistic talents of the club members. Under the supervision of Mrs. Lynn Bodicky, Fine Arts Club also sought to encourage enjoyment of both contemporary and classical music and literature.

Once every two weeks, club members gathered to enjoy a display of talent by one of their fellows in forms ranging from poetry reading to guitar playing. Included among the several outside artists who performed for Fine Arts Club were Mr. Richard Hannon, a concert pianist, and Mr. Mel Bay, renowned Kirkwood guitarist and instructor.

In late October, Fine Arts Club celebrated All Saints Day with a party at the home of President Elaine Brown, and in December, club members demonstrated the Christmas spirit of good will by caroling at the State Hospital in St. Louis. A trip to a sanitarium in Eureka to learn about the art of wood carving from a Roman Catholic brother closed the year's activities.

A CAPPELLA AND ADVANCED GIRLS' CHORUS

Directed by Mr. John Owen, the A Cappella choir highlighted two KHS vocal music concerts and a special schoolwide assembly. A Cappella participated in both the annual Christmas concert and the Spring concert, in which songs by contemporary American composers were predominant. Christmas carolling in the Kirkwood business area, Bedford Oaks subdivision, and the Flaming Pit restaurant by the choir brightened the holiday season for numerous Kirkwoodians.

A Cappella performed in the St. Louis County Music Festival and also in the Kirkwood Music Festival, joining with other local school choruses. Students and teachers at KHS were able to purchase a recording of songs done by each of the school vocal groups, especially featuring A Cappella.

Thorough study in the field of vocal music increased the interest of members of Advanced Girls' Chorus. Aside from school concerts, the group participated in area vocal music festivals.

Mixed Chorus and Sophomore Girls' Chorus spent classtime practicing in preparation for concerts and vocal music festivals. In addition to selecting a variety of songs to be performed, director Mr. John Owen taught the classes the rudiments of music theory and history.

Held on March 23, the Kirkwood Vocal Music Festival included numbers of both Mixed Chorus and Sophomore Girls' Chorus. Selected ensembles from the groups appeared at Washington University in the St. Louis County Vocal Music Festival of Solos and Ensembles. Each of the two choruses performed on the record of KHS vocal groups and in the Christmas and Spring concerts.

THE HISTORICAL FACTION

Investigation of supernatural occurrences and recurrences was the program which initiated activities for members of The Historical Faction. With sponsor Mr. Rogers, T.H.F. endeavored to increase knowledge and interest in particular phases of history through extended research. Dwelling first upon witchcraft, members learned of its history, the organization of some of the first institutions of Satanism, and the witch trials and tortures.

Contrasting the supernatural with the scientific, research efforts proceeded to the study of extrasensory perception and the known powers of the mind as determined through the Socratic technique, "Know thyself." Interested students also attempted scientific explanations of Biblical miracles.

Supporting other activities by means of numerous bake sales, the club engaged in contemporary studies by visiting the Arch at the St. Louis waterfront memorial. The final activity was the annual picnic held this year at historic Hannibal, Missouri, where members toured the famous homes of Mark Twain's familiar stories.

and Heritage of the Past

GERMAN CLUB

Under the supervision of Mrs. Henrietta Steinkamp, Der Kirkwood Deutsche Verein promoted a better understanding of German culture and mores. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stern, who grew up in Germany, Mr. Fritz Purrmann, who lived and studied in East Germany, and Dorothy Reiser, Parkway's foreign exchange student from Switzerland, discussed the customs and attitudes of German-speaking peoples. Other club activities included a picnic in the fall and the eighth annual Christmas Dinner, held this year at the House of Maret.

Bake sales financed the club's yearly trip to Hermann, Missouri, a town which has retained the atmosphere of an old-fashioned German village. Planning their visit for May, club members participated in Mai Fest activities, sampled German delicacies, and enjoyed traditional folk dances.

SOCCER

Despite the fact that Kirkwood has competed in varsity soccer for only three seasons, the 1967-68 Soccer team compiled an impressive list of accomplishments. The squad's overall season tally of eight wins, four losses and three ties earned the respect of all opponents while a 6-0-2 league record clinched the Suburban Soccer League crown for the KHS groundballers. Following a tense league race through the very last day of competition, Kirkwood emerged ahead of third place Normandy by only one and one-half games and second place Parkway by only one game.

Hampered by a back operation, coach Frank Czapla was unable to assume active coaching duties during the early part of the season. As a result, coach Ron Rushen piloted the KHS kickers through their first four encounters.

Although the groundballers entered their first clash in the St. Louis District Tournament as heavy underdogs, Coach Czapla's squad turned in an impressive 3-1 upset over seventh seeded Mercy High. In the second round, however, Kirkwood succumbed to a fast and skillful DeAndreis team, 4-2, in the Pioneers' final effort of a successful season.

WRESTLING

Beginning practice late in November, Kirkwood wrestlers prepared for a season in which they met many top wrest'ing powers. Exciting matches drew many fans to follow Kirkwood's grapplers all the way to the State Wrestling Tournament in Kansas City. Starting with two victories over Ladue 38-6 and Vianney 30-26 the Kirkwood wrestling team gained the confidence necessary to support it throughout the three-month season. After sustaining losses from Parkway 10-36 and University City 11-30, the Pioneer wrestlers regained their strength to defeat Principia 29-19. Kirkwood's grapplers finished their season with a 3-10 record.

Recording 25 wins out of 26 matches, Jon Stevenson was the only Kirkwood wrestler to survive the elimination matches of the District meet and qualify for competition in the State meet. Stevenson lost his semi-final match, but won the consolation match for third place in State.

SWIMMING

After graduating many of its senior swimmers last year, the Kirkwood High School swim team compiled a commendable meet record of 9-6, and ranked eighth among all Missouri high schools. Losing their first meet to Webster, the Pioneer swimmers went on to overcome Normandy, Parkway, Ritenour, Pattonville, and St. Louis University High.

The Pioneer swim team placed fourth in the district swim meet at Hancock High School, and qualified two relay teams, two divers, and a number of swimmers for the state swim meet at the University of Missouri in Columbia. Freestyler Steve Sumner kept Kirkwood alive by qualifying first in two events, and tying a state swimming record of 22.1 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle event. In the finals Sumner held his qualifying position and took two first places to put Kirkwood eighth in state.

B-BASKETBALL

Experience in B-Team basketball developed individual talents and team spirit which in future years will strengthen varsity teams. Efforts of several individuals kept the "B" Pioneers' season alive. Guard Cecil Jones was the team's high scorer. His ball handling and outcourt shooting helped the team out of many tight games. Center Gary Salivar and forward Brian Carter did most of the rebounding for the "B" Pioneers. These two players accounted for most of the scoring under the basket.

Losing four of its first five games, Coach Paul Meyer's team took its turn at winning by defeating Parkway 56-52 and slipping by University City 44-43. Another high point of the B-Team's season was the defeat of the Webster Statesmen, 44-43. With a final victory over University City the B-team closed its season with a 6-11 won-lost record.

BASKETBALL

Steadily improving as the season progressed, the KHS Millermen finished strongly with an overall tally of twenty-four wins and four losses and placed third in the Missouri State Tournament. Mr. Denver Miller, completing his 35th year as varsity basketball coach, guided his cagers to numerous victories through the course of the season and prepared the team for state competition in early March. Rebounding from a second round bow to DuBourg, 64-59, in the Maplewood-Richmond Heights Tournament and a first round loss to Ritenour, 67-66, in the Normandy Christmas Tournament, the squad over-powered such foes as St. Louis University High School, Lindbergh, and Mehlville, and went on to capture the Kirkwood Tournament by defeating Webster and Parkway.

Ray Acker bounds high over a Webster opponent on his way to scoring a basket.

In a suspense-filled moment George Thornton sinks a free throw to win the game against Poplar Bluff and boost Kirkwood into the semi-finals of the state tournament.

Captained by All-State center George Thornton, the Pioneers clinched the Suburban South Championship with a league record of eleven wins and only one loss. Although hampered by a low free-throw shooting percentage, Mr. Miller credited a strong defense, competitive rebounding and a cooperative attitude as the ingredients of the roundballers' success this season.

Participation in the Lindbergh Regional Tournament and the Missouri Class L State Tournament highlighted the season. Victories over Lafayette, Lutheran South, and Webster Groves earned Kirkwood the regional title and gave the Pioneers the privilege of meeting Christian Brothers College in the first round of state competition at Lindbergh. Meeting the challenge of CBC with a 75-61 victory, Kirkwood went on to squeeze by Poplar Bluff after one overtime, 41-39. In semi-final competition, the KHS cagers succumbed to Columbia Hickman, 43-38, but went on to defeat DeLaSalle, 59-43, and finish third in the State Tourney.

Intramurals Permit Students to Release

Suspended in a pike position, Coach DiGirolamo executes a front-drop during an intramural session.

BOYS' INTRAMURALS

After school intramurals gave those KHS boys who were not active in varsity sports a chance to apply gym skills in organized games.

During the fall sports season, Mr. Paul Meyer supervised a sports activity program which included basketball on Mondays and Wednesdays and touch football on Fridays. During the winter season, weight training was the main activity of boys' intramurals. Under the direction of Coach Jim DiGirolamo, the boys established an effective weight lifting program and executed it on alternate afternoons. When the gym was not being used for varsity and B-team basketball practice, the boys engaged in either basketball or volleyball games, whichever they chose. While the spring intramural season was devoted primarily to softball, courts for basketball and volleyball were available if a majority of participants wished to use them.

Members of the Kirkwood coaching staff were successful in setting up an interesting and challenging intramural program. Any boy who wished to take advantage of the opportunities offered gained valuable experience in team competition and a chance to participate in afternoon athletics.

Energy Through Physical Activity

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

During the winter season, girls' intramurals offered basketball, table tennis, and continued its gymnastics program. Intramural sessions lasted approximately an hour after school on a Monday through Thursday basis. Under the supervision of the physical education teachers, the girls practiced and developed the skills which they had learned in class. For three games this year, the Kirkwood Pioneer Boosters furnished a bus for the girls' class and varsity teams. In past years girls had to provide their own means of transportation.

Through participation in the intramural program, students competed for positions on the class and varsity teams. Points awarded for taking part in intramurals, playing on the class and varsity teams, and serving as managers and game officials enabled girls to become eligible for K-Klub membership and athletic awards.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

Girls' Varsity Basketball highlighted the winter intramural roster. Miss Marjorie Bust, the coach, selected girls from three class teams to complete a potentially strong varsity squad. Preparing for stiff competition, the team spent much time during practice sessions improving the skills of dribbling, passing, shooting, and rebounding.

Kirkwood's first encounter was on the home court against Ritenour. After a long hard battle, the Ritenour team squeaked by with a 14-13 victory on a last minute shot. In the next contest at University City, the girls were unable to stop a quick University City team and dropped their second game 32-23. Overcoming initial difficulties, the squad defeated Clayton 33-15 for their first victory. Arch-rival Webster was the next victim, succumbing to Kirkwood 26-18. Closing the season with a win, the girls stopped Brentwood 26-23, thus completing a winning season.

K-KLUB

K-Klub allowed girls with athletic ability to further their interests in sports. Under the supervision of sponsors Miss Marjorie Bust, Miss Karen Kaufman, and Mrs. Helen Taft, the club stressed sportsmanship and leadership. Upon accumulating one hundred points through intramural participation, a girl earned her black "K" and was invited to become a member of the club.

K-Klub's busy year began with a Coke Party for the sophomore girls and new students, at which the members explained the intramural program. Girls and their mothers competed in an assortment of games and enjoyed refreshments at a Mother-Daughter Party held in December. Later in the year, the members honored their fathers at the annual Father-Daughter Banquet.

Other projects which K-Klub organized, included two backward dances, "Lost in Space" and the "Hatchet Hop." In the spring the girls hosted a Volleyball Sports Day for other public school teams in the St. Louis County area.

HATCHET HOP

Wandering through a setting of rose gardens and wine casks, more than 200 couples gathered in the east gym on February 24 for the 1968 Hatchet Hop. The Rich McDonnell Quartet provided musical accompaniment of varied tempo as the crowd mingled beneath a canopy of pink streamers adorned with crepe-paper roses.

K-Klub, an honorary division of the girls' intramurals program, planned and sponsored the dance under the direction of over-all chairman, Carol vonCloedt. Endeavoring to honor the most outstanding senior boy, K-Klub selected eight candidates on the basis of their superior leadership abilities and contributions to the class. Final elections held February 20 allowed all registered seniors to cast their ballots for the nominee of their choice.

Terminating the evening was the announcement of Ray Ritchey as the '68 Hatchet Man. The Days of Wine and Roses drew slowly to a close as Ray and his date led the final dance.

Relieved of the tension preceding announcement of the 1968 Hatchet Man, the court poses behind Ray Ritchey and Tina Hoester.

Class Dinners Finance

"Ugly Feet" contest draws a crowd to the informal atmosphere and refreshments available at February Snack Bar.

Entertainment and profitable events dotted the winter social calendar at KHS. Members of the Class of 1968 joined to present the Senior Smorgasbord on December 9. After the supper, the varsity basketball players battled players of several graduate classes in the annual Alumni Game.

Three dances — the Christmas Formal, the Hatchet Hop, and The Pioneer Prance—honored exceptional members of the student body.

On January 20, juniors held the annual Chicken Chomp preceding the KXOK All-Stars game against the KHS faculty. Students presented the 1968 Talent Show on March 15. On March 19, the victorious faculty challenged the Webster faculty to basketball.

At Hatchet Hop, candidates lead dance following the presentation of the hatchet to Ray Ritchey.

PIONEER STAFF

Endeavoring to capture the memories of the fall, winter, and spring of the 1967-68 school year, the Pioneer explored social, sports, and academic life. For the first time at KHS, the staff organized the annual by seasons in order to emphasize the theme.

Profits from the Pioneer Christmas Card mailing service supplemented the proceeds from Pioneer sales in financing the publication. In early fall, staff members and sponsors, Miss Betty Ann Butts and Miss Jean Sheppard, attended a year-book conference at the University of Missouri at Normandy to improve journalistic techniques.

In a brief respite from journalistic duties, Pioneer and Call members gathered at their annual Halloween party. As the yearbook staff's final project, the Pioneer Prance recreated the Emerald City of the Wizard of Oz and drew the winter social season at KHS to a close.

PIONEER PRANCE

Following the twisting yellow brick road, Kirkwood couples entered "The Land of Oz," a dance sponsored by the Pioneer yearbook staff. Retracing Dorothy's journey, the road wound past the scarecrow, the lion, the tin woodman, and a field of brilliantly-colored tissue poppies which served as favors for the girls. Couples danced under the gaze of a huge Wizard of Oz to music provided by The Last Resort.

Each of the six maids, nominated by the Pioneer staff for her outstanding contributions to the yearbook, was escorted onto the drawbridge leading into the mystical Emerald City. Results of an earlier all school election were revealed at the dance when George Baldwin crowned Shelley Dieterichs 1968 Pioneer Queen.

BIOLOGY CLUB

In addition to a study of insects and various types of fungi, KHS Biology Club explored new and varying facets of the science of living things. Included was a study of biocryogenics, the effect of extreme cold on organisms. Biocryogenics forms the basis for the planned super-freezing of living matter for long-range preservation.

Biology Club also performed the destructive distillation process involving the reaction of yeast cells to break up sugar into carbon dioxide and alcohol. Using glucose and molasses in experiments, members formed ethyl alcohol and rum, respectively.

Barnes Hospital in St. Louis allowed Biology Club to observe the actual removal of a lung during an operation. Accompanied by their sponsor, Mr. Carl Piro, members participated in a field trip to the laboratories of the School of Pharmacy.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Designed to provide enjoyment and an opportunity for the pursuit of scientific interests beyond the classroom, KHS Chemistry Club met bi-weekly. Sponsored by Mr. Arthur Bignall, the club performed experiments to prove that chemical mixtures can produce energy or form products.

Members studied and formed various types of fast-growing crystals. By means of chemical processes, they produced nylon and a basic soap. Chemistry Club built and launched four small rockets. Development of the fuel, which involved complicated chemical formulas, was the most scientific and difficult part of the project.

By mixing chemicals, club participants produced a glowing mixture, thus demonstrating that chemicals can produce light. Mr. Bignall introduced to Chemistry Club a number of contact explosives, which are sensitive enough to explode at the slightest touch.

RADIO CLUB

Offering an opportunity for fun and education in the field of communication, the KHS Radio Club conducted code and theory sessions at weekly Friday meetings for any students interested in becoming amateur radio operators. KϕAZV, licensed by the FCC, was the Kirkwood station sponsored by Mrs. Charlotte Bell Conley. Activities which oriented members in the comprehension of radio operations and electronics included field trips to the Bell Telephone micro-wave units and radio stations, and educational movies. Candy sales provided the necessary funds for the club.

Drawing upon functional skills acquired throughout the year, the club participated in the DX contest, staged early in March, as the major spring activity. Competition consisted of achieving contact with as many foreign amateurs as possible within a twenty-four hour period.

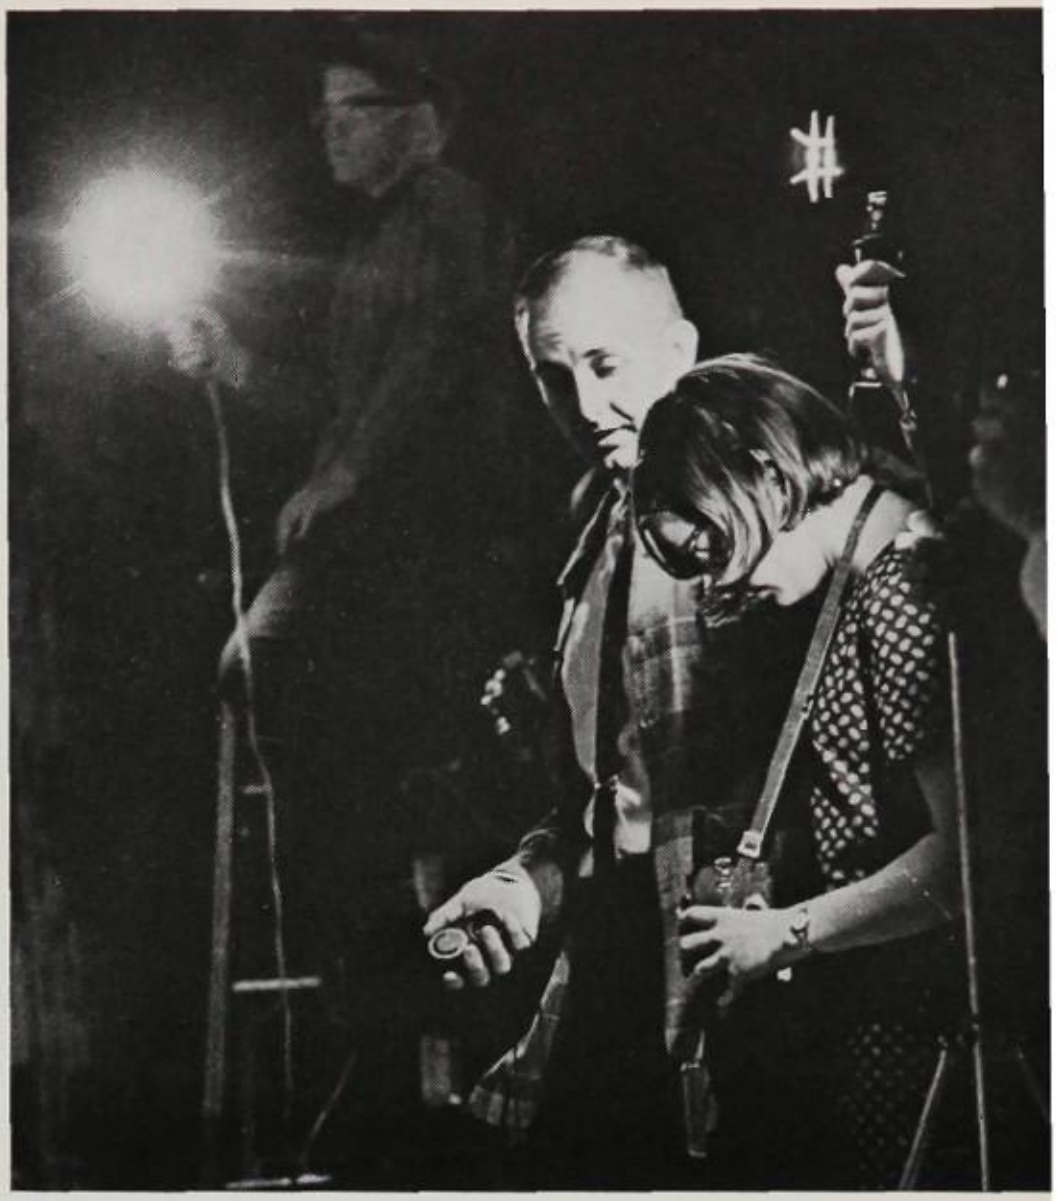
During the last week of June, club members competed with thousands of other amateurs in a national Field Day Test sponsored annually by The American Radio Relay League. Emphasizing operation under mobile power, the competition tested the ability of both the amateur operator and his station to function in simulated emergency conditions.

Technical Hobbies

CAMERA CLUB

Utilizing KHS darkroom facilities, Camera Club members, directed by Mr. Arthur Stout, attempted to expand their skills in the creative art of photography. Sales of pictures of the sports teams and of Little Theatre's production Blithe Spirit enabled the club to purchase a dryer, a device which coats photographs with a glossy finish. In April, a visit to the Cine-Graphic Film Company acquainted members with professions related to the field of photography.

Striving to capture the spirit of life at KHS, Camera Club members filmed Kirkwood's classes and extra-curricular activities from the fall to the spring. As a climax to these year-long efforts, the club combined their films into a movie which they presented at the Senior Carnival in the spring.



With the assistance of sponsor, Mr. Arthur Stout, Camera Club's amateur photographers attempt to capture the bright lights and backstage activity of Little Theatre's Blithe Spirit.

SPELEOLOGY CLUB

Speleology Club emphasized safety techniques and preservation of natural cave formations in its several explorations this year. Some individual club members attended the spelunkers' convention at Meramec State Park in September and other lectures concerning speleogical procedures.

Supervised by Mr. John Lyles, Speleology Club members inched their way through Green and Hamilton Caves in Meramec State Park. On a return trip to the same site, they penetrated the passages of Lone Hill Onyx. Points of interest on these trips included stalagtite and stalagmite formations and the usual Missouri red clay.

Speleology Club action came to a climax with the exploration of Mud Sink Cave. Club members realized the appropriateness of the cave's name as they stumbled through knee-deep mud to reach an underground lake. Crossing the lake in innertubes, the spelunkers' efforts were rewarded with the discovery of a fifteen feet high cascade.

ASTRONOMY CLUB

Sponsored by Mr. Arthur Bignall, Astronomy Club members gathered to increase their knowledge of space science and to observe the countless numbers of celestial bodies. Star parties, held at the homes of club members and at the mercy of the weather, fulfilled the social and astronomical objectives of the club. Two members of the St. Louis Astronomical Society shared their knowledge with club members at two star-gazing sessions in November and February. In addition, Astronomy Club planned several more observing sessions for the more favorable spring weather.

To increase their perspective of the universe, the astronomers utilized the facilities of the McDonnell Observatory, operated by employees of the McDonnell Aircraft Corporation, in Wentzville. In a further effort to improve the quality of their observation program, club members continued grinding the lenses for their perennial telescope project, which has been under construction for the past four years. Astronomy Club also engaged Mr. Thane Bopp, prominent local astronomer, to present his newly expanded slide show of heavenly bodies.

DEBATE

Striving to place among the top five teams in the Greater St. Louis Speech Association, Kirkwood's debate team completed one of its most successful years by winning more than half of its contests. Kirkwood's rating of the Degree of Distinction, the highest honor awarded by the National forensic League, reflected the team's competence.

For the first time, Kirkwood's outstanding debaters received activity letters in recognition of their contributions to the team. Members so honored were Tom Crabtree, Dave Fauntleroy, Steve Edwards, and Dave Nelson.

Debaters, coached by Mr. Murray Smith, participated in several dual contests with the Webster Groves debate team and seven invitationals held at Rosary, Wentzville, Washington University, St. Louis University, Hazelwood, Passionists' Seminary, and St. Louis University High School. In preparation for the Regional Finals in April, the debate team entered the eighteen league tournaments which consisted of contests in the interpretation of poetry and prose, public speaking, and debate. This year's debate topic was "Be it resolved that Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures."

Through their contributions to the club's activities, including production of the fall and spring plays, these members amassed a total of over 500 activity points. Receiving the title were six seniors and three juniors.

Displaying academic proficiency, three Kirkwood students received recognition this year for their attainment of superlative grade-point averages. Jim Carpenter represented the senior class, outstanding in the junior class was Barbara Talent, and Barbara Cloyd was the sophomore representative.

Additional honors were earned by 87 seniors who, after a seven-semester grading period, maintained an accumulative average of 3.5 or above. Each of the 87 scholars received a gold "K" during ceremonies held Tuesday, March 19.

Visits and guidance from some of the country's foremost musicians highlighted the year's activities for the 53 members of the Orchestra. Traveling to the newly refurbished home of the St. Louis Symphony, Powell Hall, the Orchestra practiced with the professional group under the direction of assistant conductor George Cleve. Later, St. Louis Symphony conductor Eleazar de Carvalho came to Kirkwood for a practice session with the combined Kirkwood and Clayton High School orchestras.

For the remainder of the year, the Orchestra performed under the able direction of one of the area's leading musicians, Mr. Burton Isaac. Presenting its annual Winter Concert, the Orchestra included among its repertoire Beethoven's First Symphony and Overture to Bartered Bride by Smetana. Together with the bands, the Orchestra closed its regular concert season at the May Spring Concert. As individuals and as a group, Orchestra members participated in the Kirkwood and Suburban Educators Music Festivals.

GOLF

Developed around the nucleus of only two returning lettermen—Charlie Morgan and Steve Sumner—the KHS defending Suburban South Golf Champions terminated a highly successful season this spring. Using the facilities at Crystal Lake Country Club for afternoon practice sessions, Coach William Lenich prepared his golfers for their first match with University City on April 3.

Besides a heavy schedule of dual matches with such powers as Lindbergh, Parkway, Ladue and Webster, the Pioneers competed in the third annual Suburban South Tournament held at Triple Lakes Golf Course. During the first week of May, the KHS golf squad took part in the forty-team St. Louis District Tournament. Results of this tournament determined the six clubs from the district who traveled to Columbia for the state competition on May 20 at the University of Missouri Golf Course. Powerful drives and accurate putting earned the Pioneers a fine season plus essential experience for future years of competition.

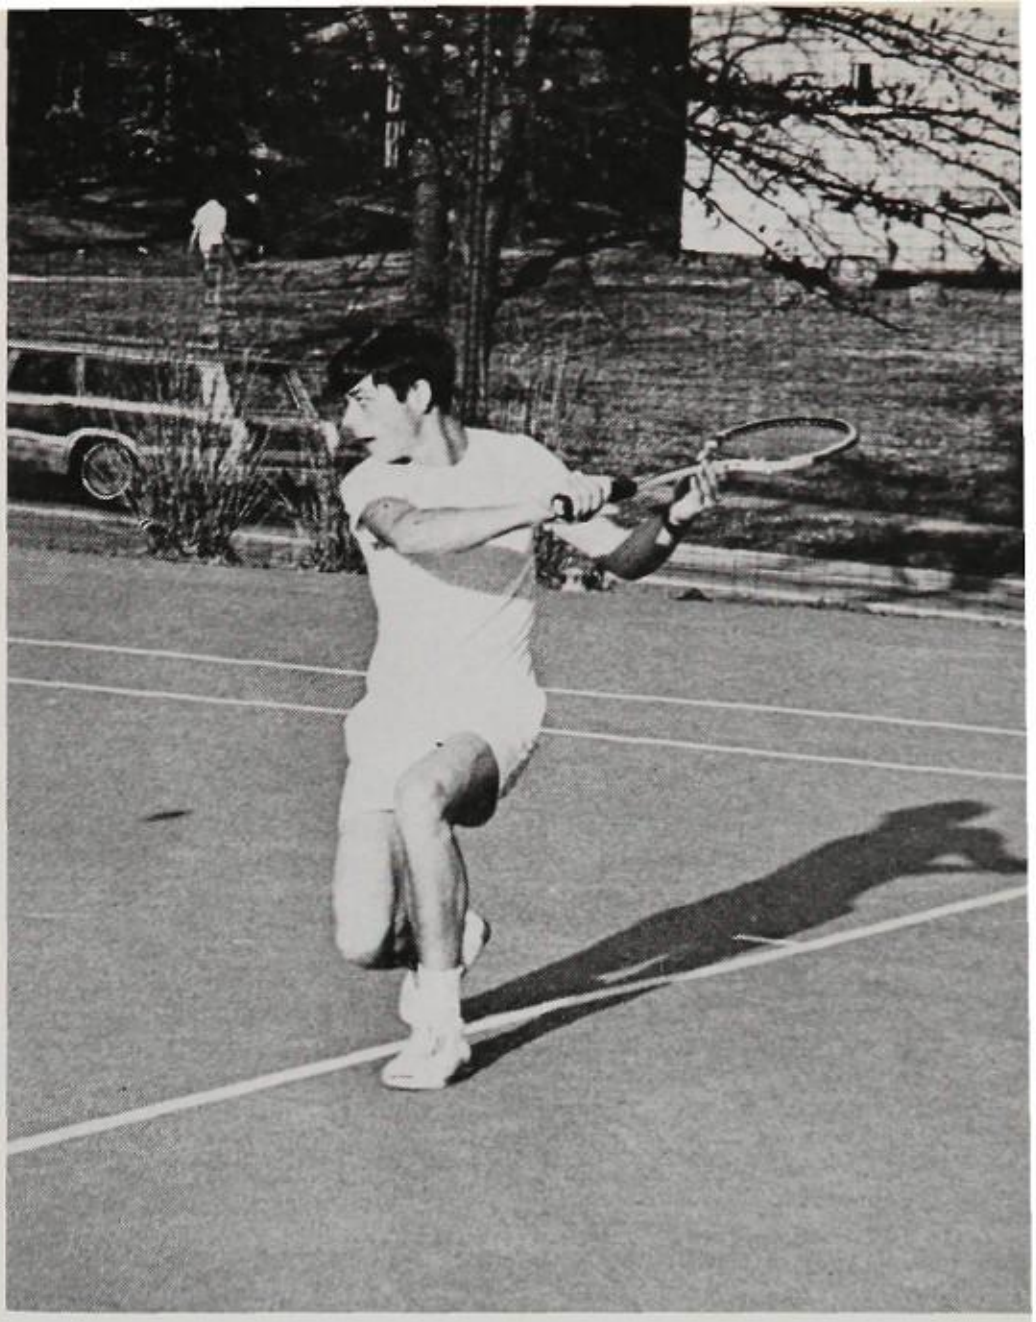
Spring Competition

TENNIS

Continuing its traditional domination of the Suburban South Conference, the 1968 tennis team maintained its record of always registering a winning season. Beginning workouts in mid-March, Coach Art Stout conditioned his varsity and B-team squads for their nineteen dual matches and three tournaments against such powers as University City, John Burroughs and Country Day.

Returning lettermen Bob Case, George Lawrence, Bob Carson and Guy Woodruff formed the nucleus of the varsity squad, but valuable assistance was afforded by last season's B-team standouts.

In tournament play, the netmen took second place at the District Tennis Meet and competed in the eighth annual Kirkwood Invitational Tourney held at Kirkwood Park. A delegation of Pioneers traveled to Columbia where they represented KHS in the Missouri State Tennis Meet.



Preparing for a backhand return, Bob Cordes lines up his shot.

TRACK

Preparing to defend the Suburban South Championship title, the Kirkwood Track team began its indoor season by competing in three indoor track meets at the St. Louis Armory. Kirkwood qualified 13 boys, more than any other team in its district, at the State qualifying meet. In the State Indoor Track Meet at the University of Missouri, Kirkwood finished second behind Kansas City Central. Kerry and Kirk Hogan took first and second p'ace respectively in the mile run to give the Pioneers most of their points. Both boys surpassed the previous state record of 4 minutes 22.5 seconds. Other points were scored by Arthur Miller who placed third in the 65 yard low hurdles, and by Kirkwood's mile relay team which took first place.

Coached through a very successful indoor season by Mr. Fred Lyons and Mr. Ron Rushen, the Pioneer track team combined its running strength with capable field competitors to begin the outdoor season April 1 against Lindbergh. Many long hours of practice refined Kirkwood's track and field athletes and enabled them to make a commendable showing at the State Outdoor Meet.

Spring Sports

VARSITY CLUB

With an increased number of winning teams, this year's Varsity Club expanded its membership to almost 200. Varsity lettermen took great pride in the athletic achievements of their teams and outstanding individual players. Selling traditional Turkey Day buttons during the week prior to the Thanksgiving holiday was the main money making project of the club. At halftime of the Alumni Basketball game, Varsity Club staged the Third Annual Diaper Bowl to initiate new club members.

Spring brought many activities for Kirkwood's lettermen. Sponsored by Mr. Paul Meyer and Mr. Frank Czapla, Varsity Club planned its Spring Sports Banquet honoring all lettermen and coaches, and later in May a picnic held at Babler State Park.

B-BASEBALL

With the arrival of spring, the KHS sophomore baseball squad began its 1968 season in the Suburban South League. Coach Hershel Page, embarking upon his 5th year as B-team coach, drilled his athletes in all of the basic skills necessary for a successful season. Coach Page further conditioned his freshmen and sophomores for future years of varsity competition by instilling in them the competitive spirit which is vital to high school athletics.

Afternoon practice sessions held at Kirkwood Park prepared the Kirkwood B-ball players for clashes with such threats as Parkway, Lindbergh, Webster and U. City. Sure fielding, accurate pitching and consistent batting earned the squad a respectable season plus a sturdy background in the sport of baseball.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Hampered by early spring snow, the KHS varsity baseball squad was forced to limit initial practices to light workouts in the gym. When field conditions permitted, Coach Denver Miller's glovemen mounted the diamond to polish rusty skills and prepare for a strenuous schedule of clashes. Competing in the Suburban South Conference, the Pioneers encountered such powers as Lindbergh, Parkway and Webster as well as non-league clashes with Vianney, CBC, Lafayette and Affton.

Relying primarily on the ability of nine returning lettermen, coach Miller supplemented the squad with several B-team lettermen and gave the underclassmen an opportunity to acquire valuable experience for future seasons. Attacking a seventeen-game regular season schedule and capturing the district title, the Pioneers were well-prepared for the Missouri State Baseball Tournament held early in May at Springfield.

VOLLEYBALL

Spring intramural sessions offered a variety of indoor and outdoor sports. On one side of the gym girls engaged in badminton tournaments, while on the other, the volleyball team competed in matches. Outside, golfers teed off, practicing the skills acquired in gym classes, and softball teams battled on the field.

Volleyball, once again, proved to be a favorite sport at KHS as enthusiastic girls crowded into the gym to participate. Those who attended five intramural sessions became eligible for class teams.

Diligent work accompanied a successful class team season, and from the members of these teams, Miss Kaufman selected 12 girls to complete the varsity squad. Seeking its second undefeated season in a row, the team had to face such formidable opponents as Brentwood, Affton, Lafayette, Maplewood, and Webster.

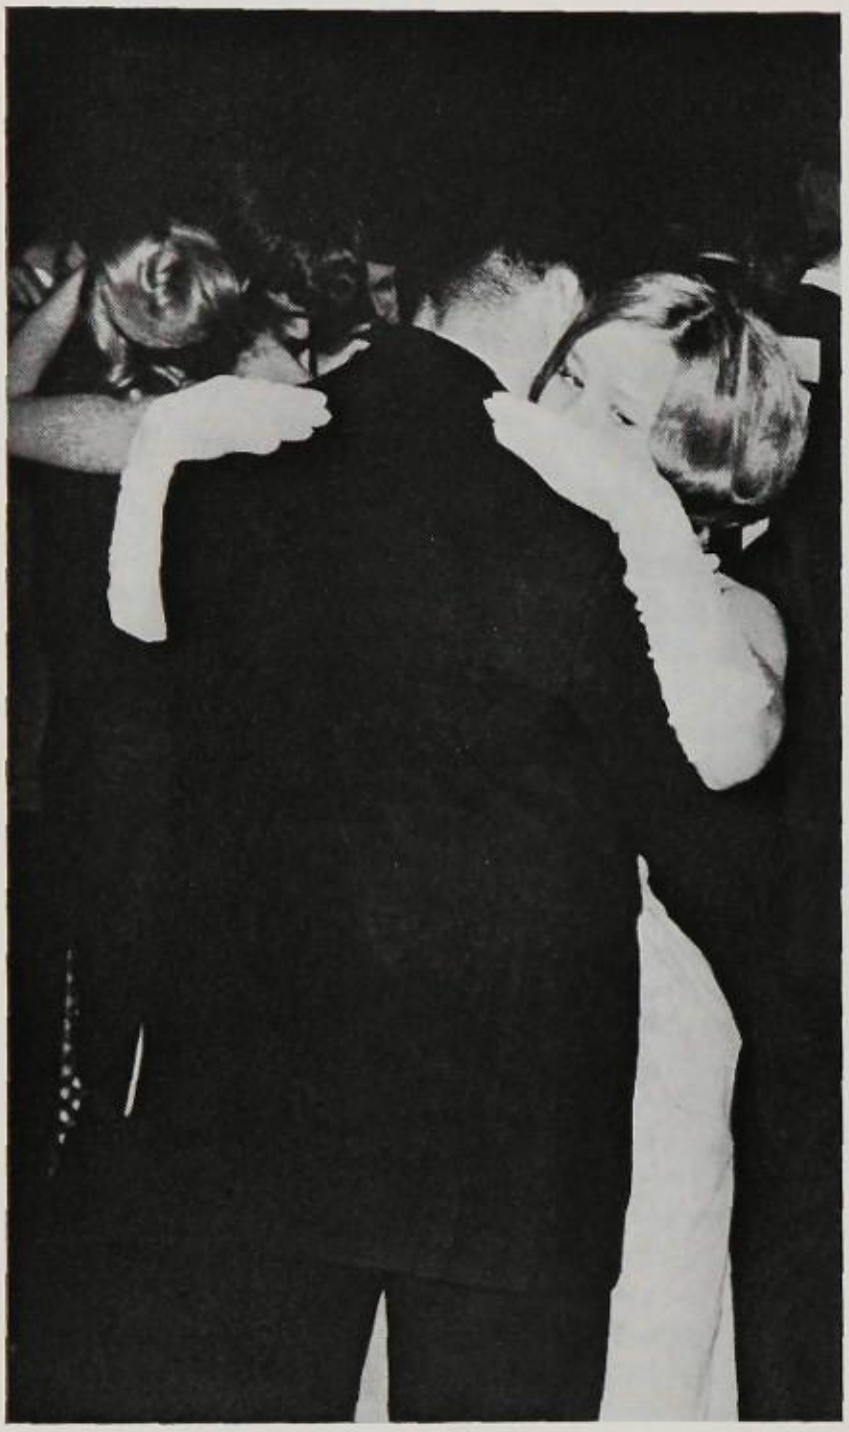
Coronation Prom Crowns



Spring social activities began with K-Klub's April 17 banquet for members and their fathers. Booths, rides, and refreshments drew a large crowd to the Senior Class Carnival, held on April 26 and 27.

Students attended the last KHS dances, the Junior-Senior Prom and the Coronation Prom, on April 17 and May 25, respectively.

Seniors chose Cheaper by the Dozen as the annual class play, performed in the auditorium on May 3 and 4. Mr. John Owen presented the KHS choruses in concert May 10, and Mr. Burton Isaac directed the Band-Orchestra Concert on May 17.

Senior girls participated in the 1968 May Fete ceremony on Saturday afternoon, May 18. That night, the girls and their dates enjoyed dinner aboard the Huck Finn.

Graduation exercises for the Class of 1968 took place on June 6. Seniors then gathered for an all-night party to complete their final year at KHS. Dinner and dancing at the Three Flags Restaurant in St. Charles preceded swimming at Cool Dell.

Senior girls participated in the annual May Fete on May 18, 1968. Dressed in long formals, the girls proceeded around the football field escorted by their fathers. During the ceremony, seven May Maids were announced and presented with spring bouquets. These girls were determined by an earlier senior class vote from 20 candidates nominated by senior girls. Following the May Fete, senior girls and their dates enjoyed dinner aboard the Huck Finn excursion boat.

On Saturday night, May 25, Student Council sponsored the 1968 Coronation Prom to honor the seven outstanding girls chosen as May Maids. Couples danced amid decorations centered around the theme "Love is Blue." After introducing the court, Liz Lang was crowned the 1968 May Queen.

Working in conjunction with the Kirkwood Board of Education was new Superintendent of Schools Dr. W. A. Shannon. Endeavoring to provide efficient leadership, he assumed the duties of chief administrator for the fourteen schools of the Kirkwood R-7 District in July of the 1967-68 school year. Dr. Shannon came to Kirkwood from Scituate, Massachusetts.

Mr. Warren M. Sarff, Assistant Superintendent, served as director of curriculum and instruction. Assistant Superintendent Mr. Carl Henderson managed finances for the R-7 School District, and was responsible for the planning and presentation of the annual budget.

As principal administrator at K. H. S., Mr. Donald Duchek supervised and evaluated all high school operations. While working to improve instruction, he helped determine curriculum and calculated possible improvements or additions.

Mr. Duchek was in charge of such matters as teacher orientation and graduation. He was also responsible for the furnishing of textbooks, classroom furniture, audio-visual equipment, recommendation on building needs, budgets, and developing the master schedule for classes and teachers.

As well as acting as overall supervisor of the athletics program, Mr. Duchek gave the final approval on clubs and organizations. Mr. Duchek also carried final responsibility for the activity program, which included the scheduling of dances, field trips, and club projects.

MR. HERBERT E. SMITH

Supervision of the junior class was one of the primary duties of assistant principal Robert Clodfelter. He was also in charge of data processing, which involved scheduling of students, schedule changes, class lists, and report cards. As director of guidance, he was in charge of such activities as orientation and school testing. Mr. Clodfelter acted as advisor for several organizations including Student Council and Girls' Pep Club.

During his first year at K. H. S., Mr. Robert Purcell worked with the sophomore class sponsor to oversee tenth grade activities and discipline. He took charge of attendance as his primary duty. As well as assisting the other principals in the supervision of cafeteria procedure, he was responsible for the cashiers and the lunch schedule. Mr. Purcell also controlled the scheduling of assemblies, and advised several clubs including Boys' Pep Club, Varsity Club, and K-Klub.

Assistant principal Herbert Smith performed the duties of senior class administrator by working with the class sponsors and class officers to coordinate twelfth grade projects. He also handled senior discipline problems. In preparation for June graduation exercises, Mr. Smith took charge of caps and gowns. He also controlled hall monitors, fire drills, elections, and P. T. A. mailings.

Airing immediate student problems and guiding academic and vocational endeavors constituted the basic objectives of the Guidance Department. Among the varied duties of the guidance counselors were consultations with students regarding personal difficulties and periodic conferences to establish and revise schedules.

Aiding in selection of colleges and occupations, the counselors maintained an extensive guidance library and offered a series of vocational interest tests. Similarly, the department arranged for speakers and representatives for the annual College and Career Nights.

Evaluation of academic achievement and college preparedness was an additional duty of the department. The counselors gave the Iowa Test of Educational Development to all sophomores and the Ohio Psychological Test to all seniors. Also included among the test administration duties of the guidance counselors were the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, the College Boards, and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

As an added effort to increase communication with the student body, the guidance department issued a monthly newsletter to juniors and seniors. The Newsletter informed students of scholarship and job opportunities and college visitations. Expanding a previously organized program, the counselors allowed groups of students from the study halls to meet for discussions on topics of interest.

Retreating from the chaos of KHS halls, Janet Summers finds solitude in the guidance lobby.

Students Earn Recognition

Mrs. Williams strives to create a vivid image of eighteenth century France in her A. P. European History Class.

Students with exceptional talent in academic fields enrolled in Honors and Advanced Placement courses. Honor classes were available in Mathematics, English, and Science while individual students contracted for honors credit in social science and foreign language classes. These accelerated courses offered students greater competition and independence. Classes supplemented their regular textbook with additional work and outside reading.

Students who completed an Advanced Placement course and ranked high on the A. P. examination were eligible to receive credit at many colleges. On the basis of the A. P. test, colleges determined the awarding of credits. A. P. Calculus teacher Mr. Harvey Welch presented an intense study of differentiation and integration. Mr. Ross Wagner's A. P. American History class prepared themes, term papers, and outside reading in addition to work in the regular text. Dissections of a fetal pig and a mouse provided the Bio-Chemistry students of Mr. Ted Stixrud with a clearer understanding of Biology. In a new class this year, European History taught by Mrs. Madeira Williams, students discovered important effects of past civilizations on our lives today.

NATIONAL MERIT FINALISTS

National Merit Scholarship Corporation awarded a Semifinalist ranking to ten Kirkwood High seniors on the basis of scores attained on a competitive test taken nationally in 17,500 schools in February of 1967. These Kirkwood students represented four per cent of the seniors in Missouri qualifying for National Merit recognition. In addition to these Semifinalists twenty-seven other Kirkwood seniors received Letters of Commendation.

Test performances, academic achievements, general scholastic promise, and principal's recommendation determined the selection of Merit Finalists from previously chosen Semifinalists. Finalists became eligible for scholarships from the non-profit National Merit Scholarship Corporation. These Merit awards were worth $1,000 toward the student's enrollment expenses in college. Many corporations, foundations, colleges and universities also awarded scholarships ranging in value from $100-$1,500 per year for four college years to Merit Finalists.

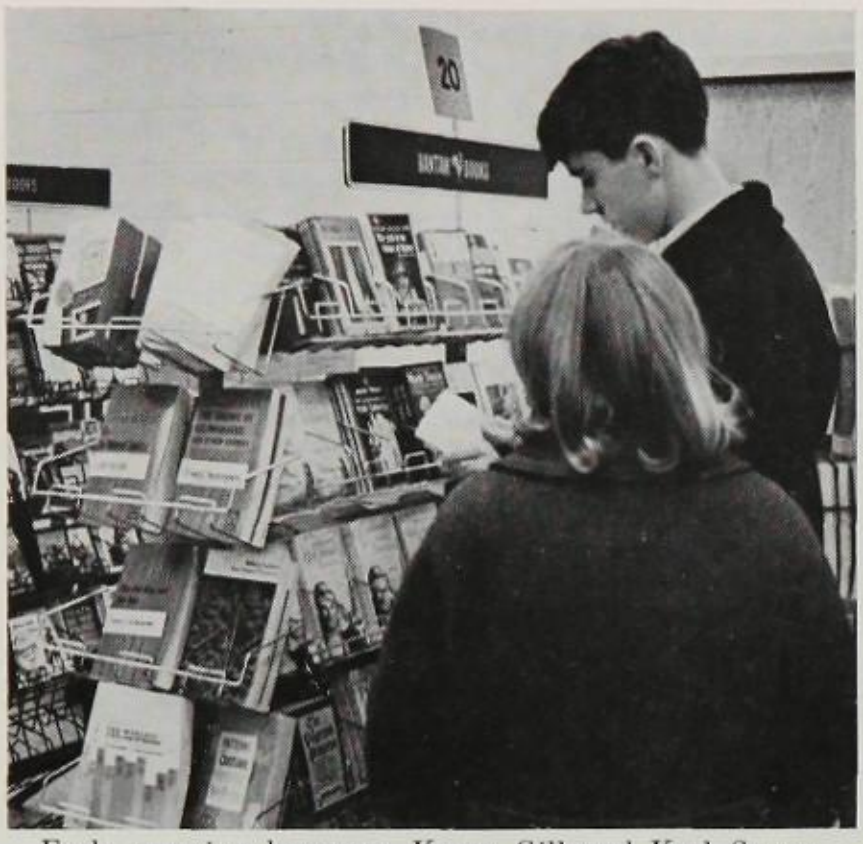
Additional Study Facilities Promote



Early morning browsers, Karen Gill and Karl Swope, examine titles of interest in the bookstore.

With the addition of 4,500 volumes during the year, including such reference materials as The Great Books of the Western World, the library offered almost 16,000 books for student use. As well as initiating a picture file and a career file, the librarians, Mrs. Wanda Willoughby and Miss Gail Humphrey, replenished the pamphlet and author files. Two other enlargements in facilities included an expansion of the record collection and an addition of thirty-one new magazine subscriptions which brought the total number of available periodicals up to almost 125.

In its fifth year at KHS, the Bookstore supplied over 800 paperback reference books and novels for required and leisure reading. Under the supervision of the store's new sponsor, Mr. Tate Haase, student volunteers, trained in salesmanship and bookkeeping, sold books and recorded all purchases.

Following a successful experiment during the 1966-67 school year, the administration opened the Senior Lounge for Seniors during their Study Hall periods on Fridays. For the third successive year, the south end of the cafeteria provided an area for upperclassmen to collaborate on their studies. Students not wishing to take advantage of this privilege remained in the north end, studying silently and individually.

Helping to locate vocational information, Mr. Henderson refers Pat Ruble to text book index.

Each student involved in the Cooperative Occupational Education program, directed by Mr. Beecher Henderson, supplemented regular study with participation in a job training program. The student attended regular classes and a special C. O. E. class in the morning, and worked at the location of his particular job in the afternoon. Each participant worked at least 15 hours a week at a job chosen to correspond with his future vocation. While earning a steady salary, the C. O. E. student also received full academic credit.

Two study guides served as reference for the student. One was a general text which gave information on the C. O. E. program and covered such topics as effective study habits, employer-employee relations, contracts, and career planning. The second was a more specific text concerning the vocation chosen by the student. In order to coordinate the C. O. E. class lessons at school with the students' occupations, Mr. Henderson made weekly visits to each student at the location of his job.

Instructors of the Driver Education program, Mr. Nolan Hansen, Mr. John Mansager, and Mr. Frank Czapla, concentrated on giving each student a knowledge of safe driving techniques and Missouri driving regulations. The Driver Education student attended lecture classes at 7:30 a.m. twice a week, and, supervised by his instructor, practiced actual driving skills during study hall periods. In addition to showing safety films, the instructor tested each student to evaluate his depth perception and to detect color blindness.

Mrs. Hanke exercises her imagination by allowing her thoughts to slip momentarily into the Elizabethan Era.

Within the course of study for this year's seniors was the investigation of the origin and development of the English language. An exploration of the history of the language included an introduction to such early literary achievements as Beowulf and Goeffrey Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. Accompanying the study of these and other works used throughout the year was the changing concept of the hero in English literature. Shakespeare's Hamlet and Macbeth, as approached through critical and analytical films, further illustrated the image of the hero and portrayed the changing language.

Prose analysis helped students to develop composition and analytic skills. Concentration upon the mechanics of the satirical novel as exemplified by Swift's Gulliver's Travels or Evelyn Waugh's The Loved One supplemented the student's knowledge of prose techniques employed by various novelists.

Studies of the second semester consisted of English Poetry, including the ancient ballad and works of the Cavalier and Romantic poets as well as such modern poems as "The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock." An optional study of drama augmented the program for the third quarter.

Concluding the year, class discussions enabled students to compare personal conceptions on modern issues with those of popular philosophers. Among those whose ideas most interested students were Marshall McLuhan and the ever-popular Peanuts, by Charles Schulz.

Through a survey of world literature, sophomore English students delved into a study of man as he relates to society. Character analysis of protagonists in selected novels aided the student in understanding himself and the situations which surround him. Studying the literary devices of various authors helped to improve the styles and techniques of the student's own writing. An additional unit dealing with the interpretation of poetry gave students insight into poetic conceptions. The major language unit of the course, semantics, emphasized connotations and denotations of words and identification of the various levels of abstraction.

English 11 study focused upon American novels, essays, poetry, and drama. Fundamental in this study was an introduction to the various views of life and the resulting literary periods, including Puritanism, Romanticism, Transcendentalism, Realism, and Naturalism. The use of rhetorical devices and logic furthered the improvement of composition abilities. A final research paper required of each student was based on wide reading of the works and critical commentaries of a selected American author, and provided valuable knowledge of the methods and mechanics of the term paper.

Mrs. Wright joins her student audience to enjoy a lecture on Puritanism delivered by a guest speaker in correlation with the study of The Scarlet Letter.

Mrs. Steinkamp suggests areas of review for German class semester final.

With an addition of new teachers, the foreign language department expanded to meet the increased student interest in modern and classical languages. Four years of study were offered in French, Latin, Spanish, and German.

Beginning classes stressed skills in speaking, reading, and writing the language with additional study in grammar. Classes also explored the culture and history of the countries in which the language is spoken.

Advanced classes concentrated on reviewing and continuing skills of listening and speaking, as well as on reading literature written in the particular foreign language. French students read literature by Molier, Maupassant, Racine, and Gide. Latin students began by reading the works of Caesar, and they later progressed to a study of Cicero, Virgil, and Ovid. Spanish classes examined such authors as Lorca, Valdés, Galdós, and Sender, and German students read works by Schiller, Goethe, and Zuckmayer.

Additional language labs and a number of new maps improved classroom facilities. Use of records, films, filmstrips, and slides supplemented regular textbook and oral study.

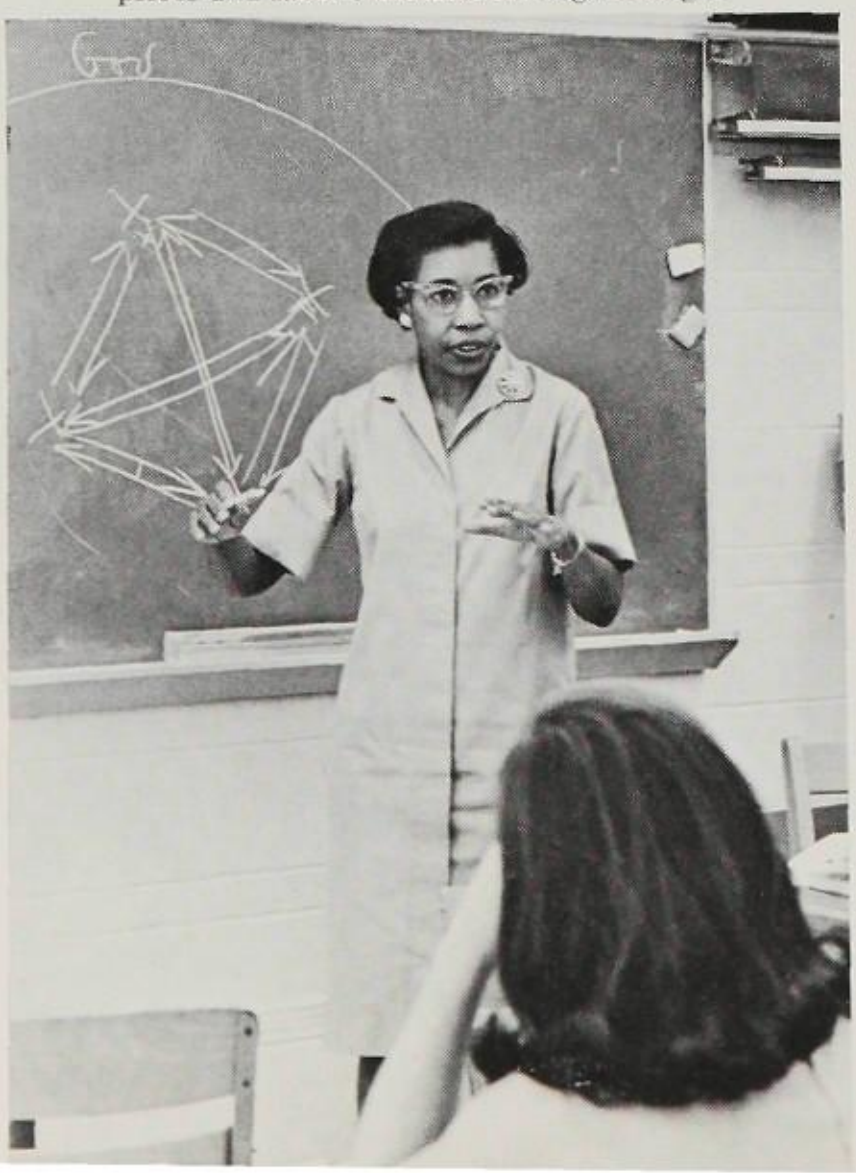
Mrs. Brooks illustrates the vicious circle between rising prices and labor's demand for higher wages.



Utilizing a plan of independent research, the Social Studies department prepared students for their future responsibilities as citizens through a history and analysis of society. Introduced into the sophomore curriculum this year, Ancient History surveyed the story of man up to 1650, including his literature, music, and religion. The new course attempted to explain the origins of cultural differences which often caused misunderstanding among modern nations.

Effects of land, climate, and natural resources on the people served as basis for discussion, occasional movies, and special oral reports in World Geography classes. Through lectures and an extensive independent study program, World History outlined the pasts of major nations, such as France, England, and some African countries, in an attempt to understand them as modern nations.

By tracing the development of the United States up to its present role as a world power, the teachers of American History hoped to instill patriotism in their students, to instruct from the mistakes of the past, and to relate current events to history.

Studying Aristotle's Politics and Second Treatise on Civil Government by John Locke in addition to the class text, students of American Government became acquainted with the theory behind government and the political institutions of the United States, such as the Presidency and administrative departments. Following discussions of the difficulties confronting today's society, including intercultural understanding and drug addiction, American Problems sought possible solutions for tomorrow's society.

Through lectures, supplementary reading and a discussion on A Primer on Government and Spending by Heilbioner and Bernstein, Economics attempted to provide the students with a functional understanding and appreciation of the basic principles governing the American economic system. Visiting several Sociology classes, guest speakers, such as a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, a Rabbi, and a union lawyer, added to knowledge of alcoholism, religion, law, and crime. Examining the behavior patterns of the individual in abnormal and normal forms, Psychology students reinforced classroom learning with supplementary reading or with special projects.

Providing students with a knowledge of life and the behavior of nature, the science department offered a broad scope of courses. Natural science students examined living things and discussed various fields of science, including geology and zoology. Health classes studied from a more personal aspect, learning about hygiene and good health habits.

New microscopes and a set of new textbooks aided biology students. Concepts of life from the simplest forms to the most complex plants and animals, and finally man himself, were studied to aid the students in understanding their environment. Teachers occasionally mentioned vocational opportunities in the field of biology during class lectures. Class laboratory sessions included dissections, experiments, and microscopic observations.

Chemistry teachers practiced a theoretical approach to prevent mere memorization and to increase understanding. Teachers' lectures and demonstrations, class laboratory sessions, and approximately 15 films supplemented the two textbooks. Honors students used a college level text as well.

Physics students examined the natural activities in their surroundings, looking for consistencies and making predictions based on these consistencies. They performed experiments and watched demonstrations concerning physical phenomena and the characteristics of matter. In addition, the students learned to make measurements involving mass, distance, and time. This year the department acquired a stroboscope which the students used in studying the motion of objects.

Continuing its two-phase program, the Mathematics Department fulfilled the practical objectives of the general student and prepared the college-bound student for advanced studies. Courses in General and Commercial Math readied students for immediate application of their knowledge in part-time jobs. Strong emphasis on arithmetic, basic geometric concepts, and practical business math characterized these courses.

First year Algebra laid the basis for further mathematics studies. Students gained an understanding of symbolic extensions of the real number system through introduction to fundamental theories, axioms, and properties. Traditionally the study of the relationships between plane and solid figures, Geometry explored a classic development of a system of thought. Students applied deductive reasoning to prove numerous theorems and logically develop the geometric system. A review and extension of the basic properties of the real number system which started in first year Algebra, higher degree equations, graphing, logarithms, progressions, and probability constituted the second-year course of Algebra.

One semester of Trigonometry introduced the student to the historical study of angles and triangles today presented as an analysis of the functional relationships of real numbers. Included in this was an examination of vectors, trigonometric functions, and polar coordinates. Analytical Geometry was the culmination of a year of geometry, trigonometry, and two years of algebra. Students investigated coordinate systems and their relationships to graphing and analysis.

Calculus courses, Advanced Placement and regular, offered the student a whole new phase of higher mathemaitcs. The introduction of a new text supplemented the study of limits and continuity leading to differentiation and integration of a variety of functions.

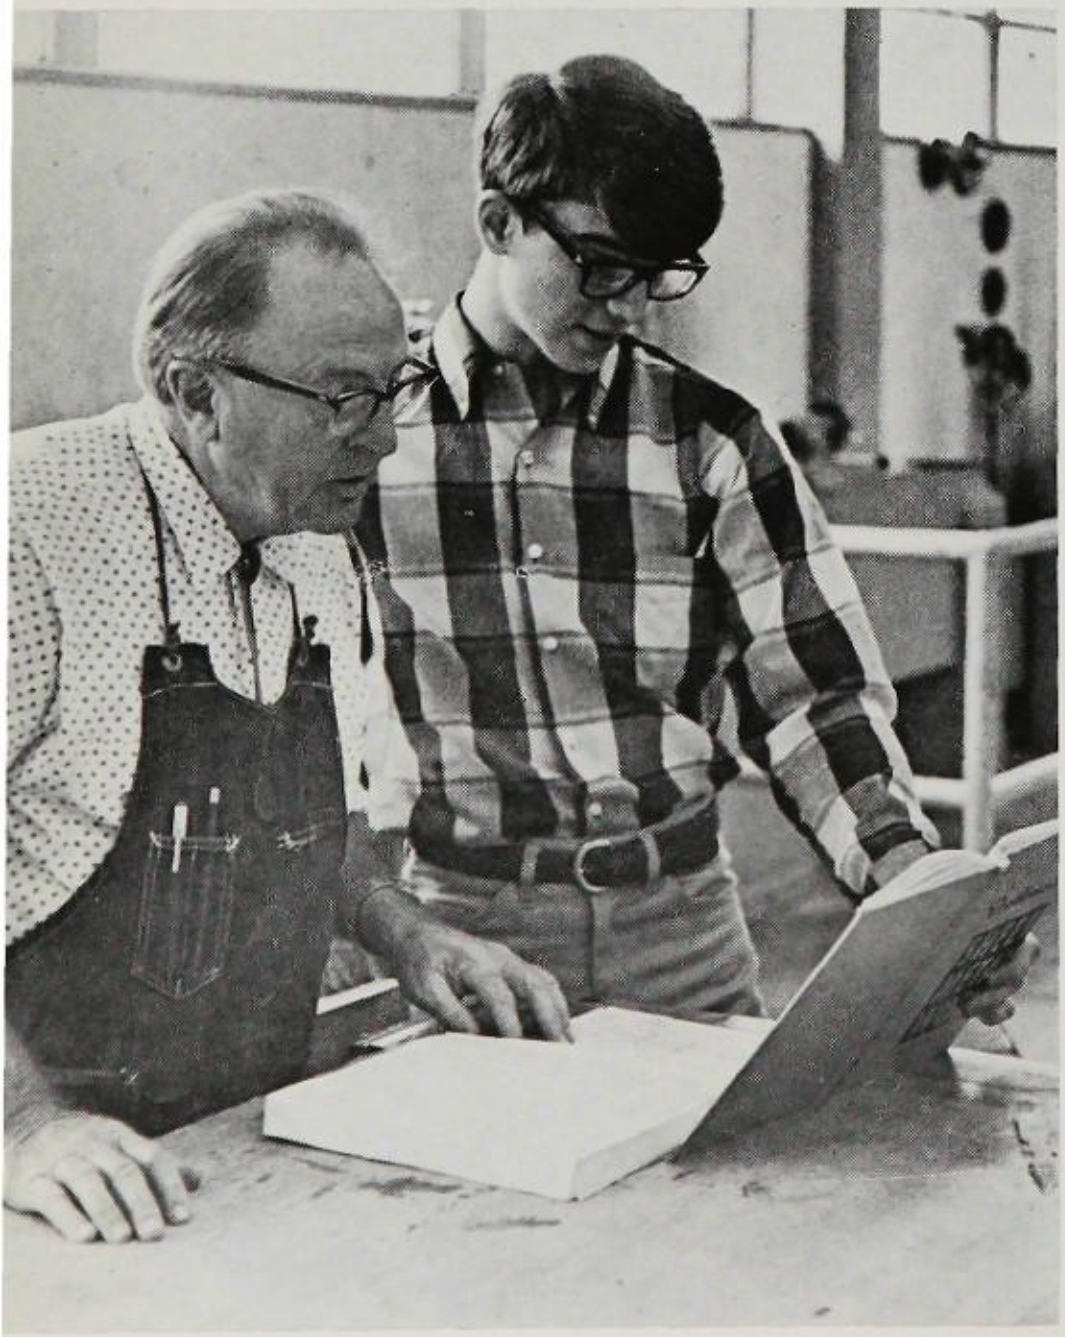
Preparing for a metalworking project, Jimmy Chisholm consults Mr. Walther. After 38 years in the KHS Industrial Arts Department, Mr. Walther retired at the end of the 1967-68 school year.



Kirkwood High School's Fine Arts department sought to promote individual and group creativity and expression. Mr. Burton Isaac directed the two bands—Varsity and Symphonic—and the Orchestra, acquainting students with the highest musical achievements of European and United States culture. Critical analysis of various scores to evaluate music, and proper techniques for possible musical careers comprised the basic objectives of the instrumental groups.

A Cappella Choir, Advanced Girls' Chorus, Sophomore Girls' Chorus, and Mixed Chorus, directed by Mr. John Owen, presented Christmas and Spring concerts, as did their instrumental counterparts. Striving to develop the appreciation and artistry of fine vocal music, the choral groups displayed their talents in several music festivals. A course in Fundamentals and Appreciation of Music presented both instrumental and vocal recordings in order to give the student increased understanding and enjoyment of classical and contemporary music.

Instructed by Miss Jean Sheppard and Mr. Charles Galvin, Art students supplemented studio work with a brief study of art history. By using a variety of materials and techniques in painting, drawing, and design, students found an outlet for individual expression and an opportunity to prepare for possible careers in art.

One- or two-semester courses in crafts, taught by Mr. Charles Galvin and Mr. Robert Aholt, offered a chance to express creativity of a constructive nature. Applying basic principles of design and color, students completed projects in leather, mosaic, ceramics, and metals.

General Shop, Woodworking, and General Metalworking introduced Industrial Arts students to possible careers in industry or the skilled trades. Elementary study of tools and procedures in the areas of wood and metal and instruction in project planning comprised the General Shop course. First and second-year Woodworking offered an opportunity to utilize advanced woodworking techniques and methods in self-planned projects.

General Metalwork included work on the metal lathe, welding and forge practice, and wrought iron and sheet metal projects. Students interested in technical or engineering education received instruction in Mechanical and Architectural Drawing.

Striving to develop clerical abilities, Business Education courses equipped students for a collegiate or occupational career. In Typing classes students copied or composed business and personal letters, manuscripts, and outlines. Individual phonographs equipped with earphones enabled students of Shorthand to work at their own rate to increase speed in taking dictation. Recording transactions in a journal were among the exercises practiced in Bookkeeping. As well as reviewing the skills of typewriting, taking dictation, and filing, Secretarial Practice included lessons on personality development, and methods of seeking employment. Business Practice encompassed studies of office communications, duplicating, and filing. Commercial Math covered many phases of business transactions, including interest, profit and loss, and discounts.

In an effort to strengthen the basic unit of society, the family, the Home Economics department emphasized the importance of domestic skills. In Clothing, students learned to critically appraise themselves and their wardrobes and to construct simple, but well-fitted and well-sewn garments. Actual preparation of balanced meals by students in Foods followed the preliminaries of menu planning and budgeting of time and money. Home Management classes discussed such topics as marriage, childcare, interior decoration, and good relationships with friends. Introducing advanced sewing techniques, such as lining and interfacing, Tailoring equipped each student with a knowledge of types and qualities of fabrics and a knowledge of her own most becoming dress designs.

Coordinating physical ability with the knowledge of the skills and rules of competitive sports was the goal of the Boys' Physical Education Department. Kirkwood High School's coaching staff worked to develop an appreciation of physical activity in every class member. Physical Education created a spirit of competition and teamwork, which promoted school spirit in general at Kirkwood.

In all classes the traditional sports taught were Football, Basketball, Volleyball, and Softball. Advanced gymnastics and a spring session on the art of fly-casting highlighted the program in the senior gym classes. Gymnastics and Badminton offered a new challenge to juniors, while golf, a weight lifting program, and wrestling skills provided the sophomores with physical activity.

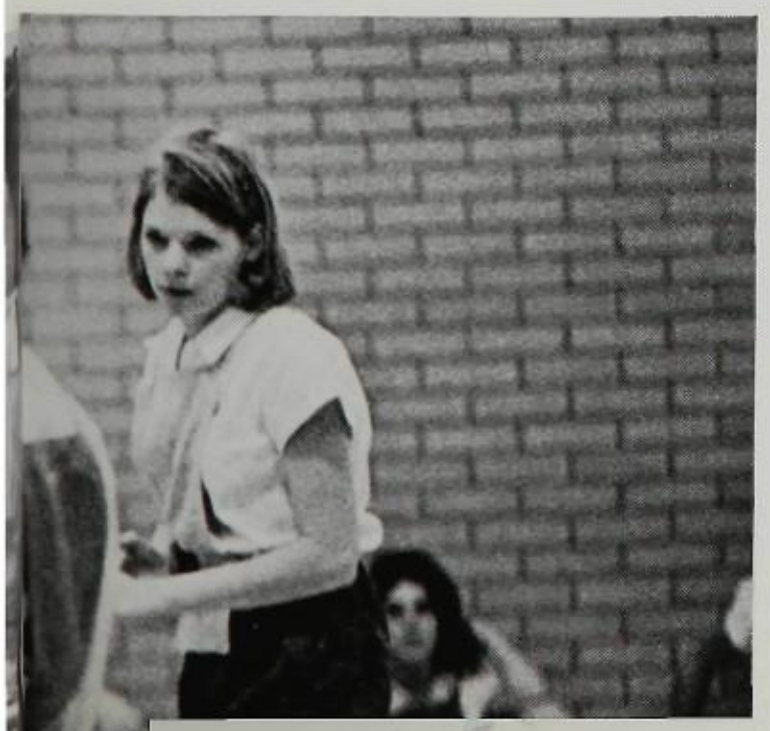
In pursuing the goal of physical fitness, the Girls' Physical Education Department provided a comprehensive program of activities for each class. Through participation in the sports and activities offered, the girls discovered the value of team work, developed new skills and interests, and practiced good sportsmanship.

Sophomore activities centered around the team sports of field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball, as well as units including fundamentals of movement and folk dance. The junior program emphasized individual and creative activities in such sports as archery, gymnastics, modern dance, badminton, and table tennis. During the fourth quarter, junior girls compared their fitness scores with national norms in a testing program prepared by the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. The senior curriculum incorporated team and individual skills in a varied program which offered speed-a-way, table tennis, gymnastics, volleyball, golf, and badminton.



Senior boys, intent on winning, apply basketball skills to score against opponent.

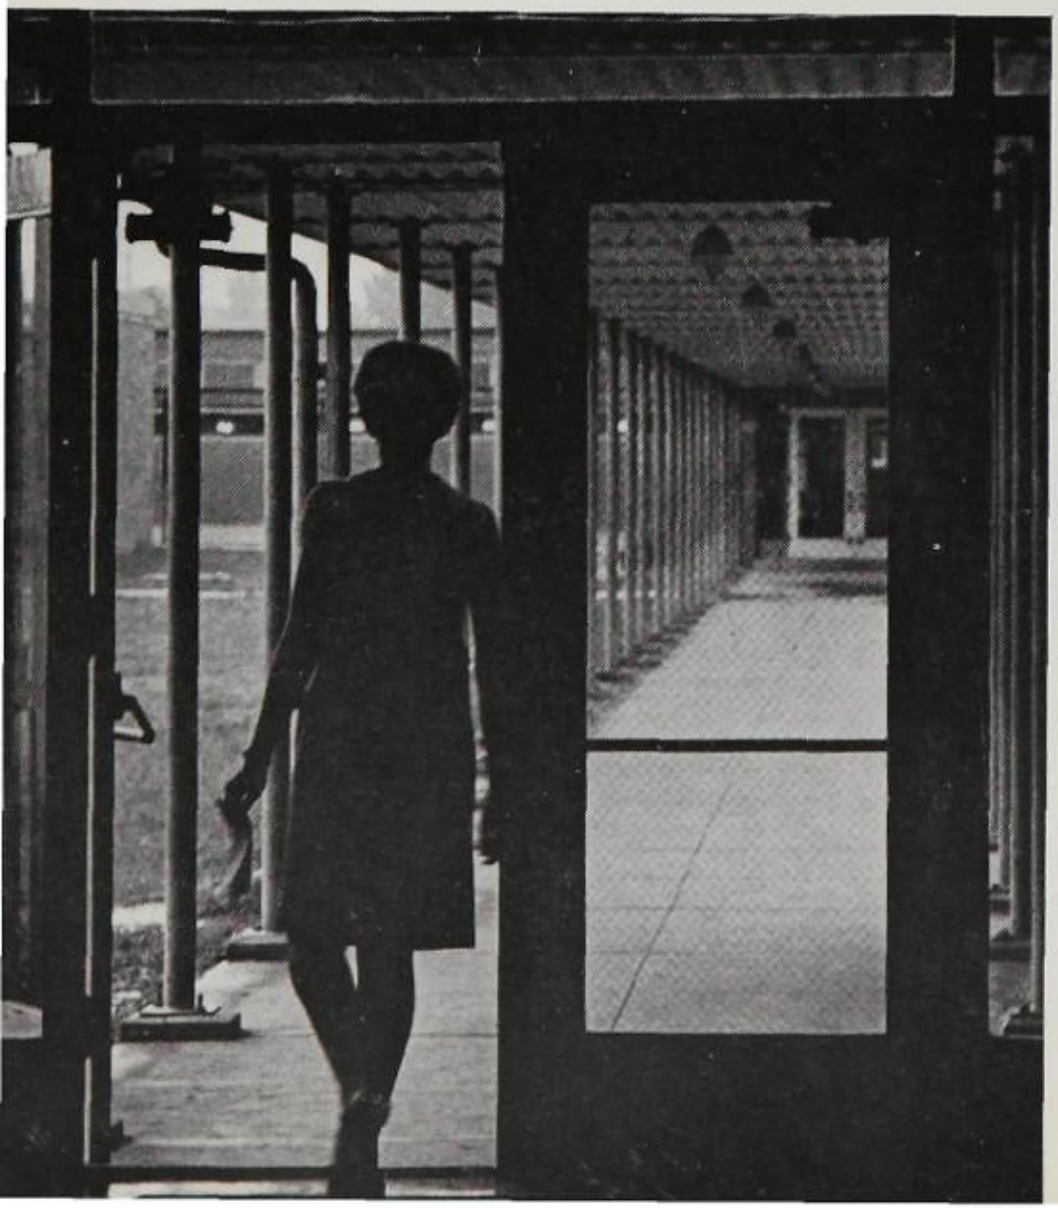
All attention focuses on the national flag during opening ceremonies of the first game of Kirkwood's '67-'68 basketball season.

"let each season encircle



You would measure time the measureless and the immeasureable.

You would adjust your conduct and even direct the course of your spirit according to hours and seasons.

Of time you would make a stream upon whose bank you would sit and watch its flowing.

Yet the timeless in you is aware of life's timelessness,

And knows that yesterday is but today's memory an tomorrow is today's dream . . .

all the other seasons"

. . . But if in your thought you must measure time into seasons, let each season encircle all the other seasons,

And let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing.
